CHANNEL IS BLOCKED BY FREIGHTER

Submarine Deutschland Has a New Obstacle to Prevent Her Departure.

(Special to The Herald)

Baltimore, July 25.—The clear channel before the German submarine-Deutschland was blocked today when the British freighter Highbury dropped anchor just outside the slip where the German undersea boat lies ready to start on her trans-Atlantic trip. The British freighter, under the British flag with her nameplate painted over, hurried up the Patuxent and swung with the current just opposite the Deutschland's dock. The freighter blocked the channel in such a way that the Deutschland in order to get out of her berth would be forced to open up the screen of barges that surrounds her and go around the freighter in the tug Tinnous, lying alongside. The process would take half an hour of the time. The arrival of the freighter and the position she took in the stream, aroused a storm of excitement among the German officers and agents in charge of the Deutschland.

GERMANS DRIVEN OUT

British After 72 Hours of Savage Fighting Occupy Village of Pozieres.

(Special to The Herald)

London, July 26.—After seventy-two hours of severe fighting, the British have succeeded in occupying all of the village of Pozieres on the Somme front. News of the complete capture of Pozieres was contained in the official report issued by the British war office today. The Germans, occupying alone houses which had been turned into fortresses fought stubbornly but were finally driven out after the Australians had secured a lodgment in the west part of the village. The prisoners taken included five officers, heavy cannonading on the Somme front continues.

OVER $500 IN JEWELS STOLEN FROM RESIDENCE

Home of Richard I. Walden on Lafayette Road Entered Last Evening and Big Haul Made.—Thief Escapes by Leap from Second Story When Disturbed

Two diamond rings, valued at $500; a ladies' gold hunting case Waltham watch, valued at $75, a pearl and turquoise ring valued at $15, and $250 in money; was the toll taken from the home of Richard I. Walden on Lafayette road last evening while he was absent from the house less than thirty minutes. The robber was disturbed at his work in the room of Mrs. Walden on the second floor of the house by the return of Mr. Walden and his son-in-law, and made his escape by leaping from the window to a bay window and dropping from there to the ground. The police were notified of the break by telephone and are investigating the case.

In his story to the police Mr. Walden said that he had been at home with his son-in-law, James Humphreys, until 8:15 o'clock when they left to call on Thomas Ward, remaining with him for a short time. On leaving the house Mr. Walden had locked the door and on his return he found the rear door unlocked and opened.

He called to Mr. Humphreys, who was returning to his own home on South street and the two men entered the house. They heard the burglar moving about in the room over head and started up the stairs, first grabbing up such weapons as came to hand. When they came to the second floor they heard him break out the screen of the window and drop to the ground.

They both rushed from the house and Mr. Walden found the heel marks of the man where he had dropped. While it is believed that there were at least two men working on the job, the marks found indicate that the man who took the jewelry was alone at the time.

Mr. Walden notified the police department and the patrol was sent to the house, in charge of Captain Burke. Mrs. Walden returned home shortly after 9:00 o'clock and took an inventory of her valuables; discovering that the rings, watch and money had been taken. All of this was in one case and several other boxes of valuables had been overlooked by the thief.

In the opinion of the police the job was not the work of a novice as the entrance was made by means of keys. It is supposed that the house had been watched and was entered as soon as the two men left to make their short call on Mr. Ward. Mr. Walden returned to his house just before 8:15. None of the other rooms in the house had been disturbed and this leads to the supposition that the man, doing the job had a good idea of what he wanted and where to look for it.

STEAMER SUNK IN THE MEDITERRANEAN

London, July 26.—A Lloyd's dispatch from Algiers states that the steamer Oliver has been sunk in the Mediterranean, presumably by a submarine. The crew was saved.

The police blotter on Wednesday morning contained the names of three for drunkenness.

BOSTON STILL LOOKING FOR THE BREMEN

U. S. Customs Tug and Other Small Craft Await Her Arrival.

(Special to The Herald)

Boston, July 26.—Daylight and a clearing of the dense fog that hung over the harbor last night failed to reveal the German merchant submarine Bremen in this port today. Reports came from various points during the night of a mysterious craft passing in by Boston Light last night but it is evident that this craft was not the Bremen. The U. S. customs tug and a number of smaller craft spent the night cruising in the lower harbor awaiting the arrival of the Bremen.

DETECTIVE ENDS LIFE

Was Being Sought in Connection With Wire-Tapping Investigation.

(Special to The Herald)

New York, July 26.—Detective John J. Kennel, oldest member of the police who-tapping squad, shot himself today while being sought as a witness in the "John Doe" inquiry into the wire-tapping scandal which is being conducted before Justice Greenbaum. The bullet entered near the heart and the attending doctors said the wound would probably prove fatal. Kennel was one of the men who "listened in" on the telephone wires of Monsieur J. J. Dunn, the Rev. Fr. Wm. B. Farrell, Dr. D. C. Potter, and Robert W. Hebert during the Strong committee's charities investigation. He was therefore one of the principal witnesses at the hearing of the Blue conspiracy and perjury charges that followed.

SAW PHINNEY KISS HEIRESS

Barnstable, Mass., July 26.—Miss Marion P. Smith, the Hyannis heiress who is fighting to have Charles C. Faine removed as the conservator of her property, today sat in the crowded court room and heard witnesses tell of her being kissed by Maurice Phinney, the Cape Cod ex-reporter and fish dealer. Mrs. Jose Fostrom, of Craigville, testified that she wanted to tell Phinney's wife about his love affair with Miss Smith but that her husband would not let her. She said her husband told Mrs. Phinney himself.

CLAIM ARMS ARE SMUGGLED ACROSS BORDER

Gen. Gonzales Says Mexicans Found Guilty of Smuggling Arms or Sniping Will Be Executed—Score of Mexicans will Be Arrested on Latter Charge

(Special to The Herald)

El Paso, July 26.—American customs officials received reports today that arms and ammunition are being smuggled across the border near the points where Mexican snipers have been in operation. That Carranza cavalrymen sent out from Juarez Tuesday in search of the smugglers and snipers reported to the commander of Juarez garrison that they could get no trace of any such lawbreakers, but in spite of this report there was firing across the Rio Grande from the Mexican side early in the day. General Gonzales, commander of the Juarez garrison, not satisfied with the information brought him by his horsemen said he would arrest a score of Mexicans lying in ambush on the island, a strip of Mexican land which juts into the Rio Grande at the point where the sniping has been the worst. It was near the island that the smugglers have been operating. These Mexicans will be taken to Juarez for examination and trial. General Gonzales said if they are found guilty of sniping they will be executed. The same fate awaits convicted smugglers.

MARINES JUMP TWO IN SUNSET LEAGUE

Climb Out of the 'Cellar' Position, Passing the C. C. C. and K. of C. by Defeating the Latter Last Evening

By defeating the Knights of Columbus in their game last evening in the Sunset League, the U. S. M. C., for some time past occupying the cellar position, has climbed up two steps, passing the Consolidation Coal Company and the Knights of Columbus. They are now in fifth place, 17 points above the Knights and 45 points behind the Y. M. C. A., the team now holding fourth place.

McCrory was hit for four singles and two doubles by the Marine batters, McCrory and Eberhard getting the hits for the extra bases. Scott played some game at the bat, scoring three of the five runs and getting two hits in twice at bat. He was passed on one occasion.

Moser was back in the game for the Knights at short and proved a whaler, completing in fine style seven of his eight chances. Bailey also played a good game at first, getting eight put-outs and no errors.

McCrory came close to equalling Dush Hodgdon's record for strike outs in five innings, getting nine. With the exception of Scott's error in dropping a throw from Eberhard in the fourth inning, the Marine batters played downright baseball. McCrory held the Knights to four scattered hits. He had one bad inning, the first, passing two men and hitting a third, but he pulled out of the hole by fanning the next batter and the following man flied to the infield. In both the second and third innings he fanned three men. The Marines held the Knights scoreless until Combe Reardon came through in the last inning with one run, scored on two hits, a steal and a sacrifice. The Marines scored five; two in the first, two in the third and one in the fifth.

The Game

1st Inning—Eberhard smacked the first ball pitched to right for two bases. Scott singled to right, Reardon falling to make a stop of the ball and Scott continued around the bases and scored. Eberhard scored ahead of him. Tharau was fanned. McCrory singled over second. Hull flied at first on a grounder in Phaneuf. Lityewer was out, Berry to Bailey, Berry making a fine one-hand stop of his high bouncer. THREE HITS, ONE ERROR, TWO RUNS.

McWilliams was out on strikes. O'Brien walked. Bailey was hit and Reardon was walked, filling the bases. Sarrotta fanned and Berry made the third out with a fly to Eberhard. NO HITS, NO ERRORS, NO RUNS.

2d Inning—Reynolds out on strikes. Deleiden flied to Moser at short. Moser booted LeValley's grounder and the batter was safe. Eberhard flied to Reardon. NO HITS, ONE ERROR, NO RUNS.

McCrory fanned Phaneuf and Moser, how slugged back of second. McWilliams fanned. ONE HIT, NO ERRORS, NO RUNS.

3d Inning—Scott walked. Tharau singled to center and took third when O'Brien lost the ball. Scott scoring. McCrory hit to right for two bases, scoring Tharau. Hull flied to Moser. Lityewer again went out at first, Berry to Bailey. Reynolds was thrown out at first on a grounder by Moser. TWO HITS, ONE ERROR, TWO RUNS.

O'Brien singled over second and took second on a passed ball. Bailey and Reardon were fanned. Sarrotta was hit by a pitched ball. Berry fanned. ONE HIT, NO ERRORS, NO RUNS.

4th Inning—Deleiden groundered to Moser, and was out at first. LeValley flied to O'Brien. Eberhard out on a grounder. Moser to Bailey. NO HITS, NO ERRORS, NO RUNS.

Phaneuf flied to Eberhard. Moser fanned. How was safe at first when Scott dropped Eberhard's throw after stopping his grounder to third. How stole second and third, making a pretty slide on the last steal. McWilliams walked and stole second. O'Brien flied to LeValley. NO HITS, ONE ERROR, NO RUNS.

5th Inning—Scott singled through short, went second on a wild pitch, and took third and scored on passed balls. Tharau flied to Moser with a line drive. McCrory out at first on a grounder. McWilliams to Bailey. Hull out at first on a grounder to Moser. ONE HIT, ONE ERROR, ONE RUN.

Bailey singled to right. Reardon bent out an infield ball and Bailey was out attempting to make third. Eberhard to Scott to Eberhard. Reardon going second on the play and stealing third. He scored on Sarrotta's sacrifice hit to McCrory. Berry out at first on a grounder to McCrory. TWO HITS, NO ERRORS, ONE RUN.

DISCUSSED SITUATION

Premier Asquith and King George Confer on Home Rule Bill.

London, July 25.—Premier Asquith conferred with King George at Buckingham Palace today when it is understood the Irish situation was discussed. Afterwards, in the House of Commons, the Premier announced that the chief features of the proposals of settlement as embodied in the Home Rule amending bill, had already been approved by John Redmond, leader of the Irish nationalists, and by Sir Edward Carson, the leader of the Ulster unionists. The chiefs of all parties agree that it will be a matter of the greatest difficulty to find a solution for the Irish deadlock. Until the cabinet decides definitely upon an amending bill no definite steps can be taken toward a settlement.

O'Brien fanned fourteen of the local batters in the nine innings, and Sweet, pitching for the W. S. THE RURAL SCHOOL TERM

Talk Four.

Gly J. L. McBrien, School Extension Agent, United States Bureau of Education, Washington, D. C.)

The lack of equal school privileges for the farm boy and the farm girl as compared with the school privileges provided for the city boy and the city girl, in length of school term, in equipment, in professional supervision, and in the qualification of teachers, are injustices that might have to be tolerated in a despotism but are discriminations that should have no place in a government of the people, by the people, and for the people. But we are not through yet with the length of the school term as one of the roughest discriminations against the farm boy and the farm girl in our public school policy.

The per cent of daily attendance of every 100 pupils enrolled in the rural schools of Maryland, according to the Bulletin of the Bureau of Education, 1913, No. 8, entitled "The Status of Rural Education in the United States" by A. C. Monahan, is only 51 per cent. The lowest percentage of attendance in the rural schools of all states in the Union, Delaware comes next with 51.4 per cent. Colorado ranks third with 53.5 per cent. The three states ranking highest in percentage of daily attendance in the rural schools are as follows: Oregon, 90.6; Connecticut, 88.4; Massachusetts, 86. It is evident, therefore, that Maryland, with the lowest percentage of rural school attendance, is 39.5 per cent below Oregon with the highest percentage of rural school attendance.

If the rural school attendance were raised from 51.5 per cent—the average daily attendance in the rural public schools of the United States—to 90.6 per cent, the average daily attendance in the rural public schools of Oregon, it would mean an increase of the rural school term in effect and in the aggregate for the country at large of 23 per cent. It would seem that 9.4 per cent of the actual enrollment, as in the case of Oregon, is a sufficient allowance for all reasonable absences—such as sick-

NEW HAMPSHIRE UNIT CALLED BEST EQUIPPED

Has a "Goulash" Gun, or Field Kitchen, Modeled After British Arrangement—The Granite State Regiment Also Possesses Its Own Filters

Laredo, Tex., July 25.—Best equipped of any regiment in the 10,000 guardsmen located here is the New Hampshire unit. They possess an unnecessary of which there are only three others in the entire United States. It is a "goulash cannon," or more technically, a soup kitchen.

The kitchen is a gift of the people of New Hampshire, being paid for by popular subscription, and its feeding capacity is one entire regiment. Capt. Nell Lynam of Manchester is in charge of the kitchen, being detailed in the supply department. As yet the newness has not been cooked off the wagon, but a trial will be made soon. It is said. The kitchen is of the latest type, used by the British army and was manufactured in Canada. The regiment also possesses its own filters, which neither the Maine nor Missouri men can boast, these depending on the Red Cross.

Lacking actual warfare, Captain Beckford of the medical corps has declared against the millions of flies that have invaded Camp New Hampshire. Screen traps, a special solution from Lowell, pans of sugared water, and longfoot comprise part of the big gun ammunition he is putting into use. Around every water spigot with which each company is supplied, and around the regimental shower baths Captain Beckford is piling rocks to prevent mud accumulation.

In his two talks at mass Sunday Chaplain Sweeney made straight man-to-man talks in which he urged moral cleanliness among the men, as the greatest asset of the soldier. Officers have taken up the talk and are making a personal appeal to the men.

The field hospital registers a few patients among the men. Their illness is said to be due to men having eaten quantities of Mexican dishes, their very nature upsetting unaccustomed constitutions. The men have all been inoculated with anti-typhoid serum, and each has been vaccinated. The injection of serum had the effect of knocking out some of the recruits.

HAMPTON BEACH HAS LIFE GUARD

LEHIGH UNIVERSITY ATHLETE IS NAMED BY TRADE BOARD

A large and enthusiastic meeting of the board of trade was held at the board of trade room in the fire station at Hampton beach Monday evening and George McDonald of Dorchester, who has been employed at the Portsmouth dance hall, was temporarily appointed as a life guard at this beach. For the past few weeks this subject has been a matter that was to come before the board, but as there has been so much other business to be done the appointment was delayed.

The necessity of having a life guard at this beach has been realized by the board and this appointment was made by a temporary one, Joseph Dudley, being appointed a committee of one to investigate the advantages that could be offered the life-saver and will make a report at the next meeting. A sum of money will be guaranteed the life-saver by the Board of Trade and a tag day will be held during the carnival week for the benefit of the life-savers as there will be more than one appointed.

The appointment of McDonald is a good one, as he is competent in every detail in this line of work, having passed the Massachusetts civil service examination for a test as a life guard. He is a member of the 1915 class of Lehigh university and is well known as a college athlete, having played a star game at half back on the university football team for the past two seasons. Undoubtedly he will be given a permanent appointment at the meeting next week and there will also be one or more other appointments given, according to the report of the investigation by Joseph Dudley.

A report was given by the committee chosen to confer with C. M. Burt, general passenger agent of the Boston & Maine railroad, in regard to Sunday excursion trains from various New Hampshire cities and towns. The committee, comprising James A. McAdams, J. T. James and Dr. Golding, stated that after a lengthy discussion Mr. Burt promised to look into the matter thoroughly and confer with the officials at a later date.

New Post Toasties are ready to eat direct from the package. They have a fine new flavour—self-developed by a new patented process. It's the rare, true flavour of prime, white Indian corn itself, and these New Toasties are the first corn flakes that do not depend on cream and sugar for palatability.

The proof of this superior flavour is found by eating some from the package dry. They're deliciously good that way, but of course are usually served with cream or good milk.

Examine the New Post Toasties flakes. The quick, fierce heat of the new process of manufacture, not only raises the distinguishing little bubbles on each flake, but gives a body and firmness that makes the New Toasties a more substantial food than ordinary "corn flakes."

New Post Toasties do not "chaff" or crumble in the package, and they don't mush down when cream is added. They come to you untouched by hand, and in moisture-proof packages that preserve their delightful oven-crispness until served at your table.

Well worth trying—these

FIND BENZOIC ACID ADULTERATED.

(From Office of Information, U. S. Dept. of Agriculture.)

Washington, D. C., July 25.—Recent examinations by the chemists engaged in the enforcement of the Food and Drugs Act of shipments of benzoic acid offered for entry into the United States have revealed that much of it is adulterated with boric acid. This adulteration is probably due to the high price which benzoic acid now commands owing to its scarcity. It is quoted at about eleven dollars per pound, while the price of high grade boric acid is only twenty to twenty-five cents per pound. As some of the shipments of benzoic acid have been found to contain as much as thirty per cent boric acid, the enormous profit in this form of adulteration is apparent.

The officials in charge of the enforcement of the Food and Drugs Act are of the opinion that benzoic acid containing boric acid is adulterated, and that shipments of such a mixture offered for entry into the United States should be denied admission under the Food and Drugs Act.

Portsmouth, N. H., Wednesday, July 26, 1916.

The City of Advantages.

That is the slogan which a large and thrifty town in one of the eastern states is thinking of adopting. The town is one of advantages, having practically all of the modern improvements, good business opportunities and being quite as well governed as the average town. The slogan, if adopted, will not be a misfit, and is liable to spur its citizens to an effort to make it one of still greater advantages.

There is nothing like pride in a city or town and united effort in its behalf to send it forward along the line of growth and progress. But in this, as in other undertakings, judgment must be used. Enthusiasm alone and the desire for big things will not produce them. There must be hard work, a singleness of purpose and honesty and economy in the conduct of affairs.

If a city is to be a city of advantages it must rest upon solid foundations. There must be nothing of the soap bubble about it. It must have as good streets, schools, water and sewage systems, etc., as it can afford, and no better. At the present time many towns and cities are apt to go beyond their means in trying to "keep up with the times," and in this way some of them become more conspicuous for their disadvantages than for their advantages. Burdensome debts and excessive tax rates are not the marks of the town of advantages.

Above all, there must be loyalty on the part of the citizens and strict honesty on the part of those who are at the head of the town's affairs. The offices must be filled by men working for the town, and not "working the town." These officials must be selected with reference to their fitness rather than on the ground of personal popularity, and must then be supported in their efforts in spite of the fact that it is impossible for them to please everybody. There must be consideration for the small business man as well as for those who operate on a larger scale; there must be a square deal for all.

To make a town one of advantages something more than the adoption of a slogan is necessary. The town that commands the loyalty of its own citizens by giving them what they pay for is the one that will appeal to outsiders and attract elements which will add still further to its growth and progress. Every town should strive to be a "town of advantages," but there are right and wrong ways to go about it, and unless the right course is pursued the attempt is sure to be a failure.

Reports from some sections are to the effect that farmers are offering from $2 to $3 a day, with board included, for men to work in the hay field. This is unprecedented, but war conditions make help particularly scarce at this time and the harvesting of the hay crop is work that cannot wait. An additional fact is that there are many able-bodied men who are not driven with work, but who will not accept employment in the hay field at any price.

Postmaster General Burleson still cherishes the idea of bringing about one-cent postage, something which would be very welcome if the postal department were on a paying basis. So long as it is operated at a loss there should be no objection to the present rates. And the fact is that there are very few people who are disturbed by the cost of postage. If the prices of other necessities were as reasonable no complaint would be heard about the cost of living.

Some New Jersey women have been sending grape juice and electric fans to the soldiers on the border. Regard for the comfort of the soldiers is commendable, but, according to reliable authorities, the government is taking very good care of the men at the front, and people in a position to relieve want and suffering will find opportunities nearer home if they look sharply about them.

From London comes word that Great Britain's efforts to reduce the consumption of alcoholic liquors as a war measure have not been conspicuously successful. Perhaps the people have read of what Lincoln is said to have told the men who went to him at the time of the Civil war with protests against the alleged drinking habits of General Grant.

What an old-time Republican editor used to call "the roar of the pines" will soon be heard from Maine, whose state election comes in September. There will be particular interest in the message borne on the wings of the "roar" this year.

STATE BOARD OF TRADE WILL BOOM NEW HAMPSHIRE

Now an Incorporated Body and Its Officers Plan to Raise Large Sums of Money for the Advancement of Education, Agriculture and Railroad Developments.

Thursday saw the birth of the new State Board of Trade, as an incorporated organization, at the meeting held at Canobie Lake by the associated commercial organizations of New Hampshire. The old board was formally dissolved and the new board began its existence, the officers of the former being continued in charge of the latter. The new constitution and by-laws recently submitted at the Newport meeting were adopted.

A brief conference of the officers preceded the dinner, which was served at 1 o'clock.

President Towne called the business session of the board to order at 2:20 o'clock and the necessary votes to complete the organization under the incorporation were passed expeditiously. Prof. Alfred L. Smith of the department of foreign commerce and commercial organization at Dartmouth, made a report for the committee on ways and means, telling of the progress which has been made in securing funds for the work which is to be done in booming New Hampshire. It is desired to secure from $5,000 to $10,000 a year in order to carry on the campaign efficiently. Excellent progress has been made so far and the work will be pressed to completion through the aid of the local board, business firms, manufacturing concerns and individuals interested in the development of the state.

Several gentlemen prominently before the public in this season of approaching political primaries were guests of the board and were invited to address the members, partisan politics being understood to be barred. Senator John C. Hutchins, who is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, was first called upon. Among other things he said: "Your organization is an indication of the fact that the business men of our state are awake and accomplishing something. You cannot realize the power that is yours for doing something worth while. The American city of today is better by far than it was 20 years ago. The same is true of towns and villages. The reason for this is the growth of the spirit of pulling together and the elimination of the man who is in thought and action narrow. This spirit of the genus homo is by no means extinct today, but happily is no longer allowed to stand in the way of growth and development. A firm body must meet its employees on a broad plane, must aim for their welfare as well as for its own, and assist in the raising of good citizens, instead of sapping their vitality by overwork and underpay, and instead of destroying potential manhood and womanhood by the employment of children who should be in school receiving an education. We have laws today that protect the worker and his children. I believe there is not a business man among you but that is glad of this fact. You have helped to fill in the gap that has stood between labor and capital, a gap which never should have existed."

"Educationally we have grown. In my town next fall a school building will be opened, a beautiful structure of which we are proud. Below us a few miles, in a manufacturing town, a $10,000 building was erected eight years ago. Today they are building another, and in both towns and in this latter, when the money was appropriated there was not a dissenting vote. Does this show progress? Our young men and women are our most important products. Each year New Hampshire sends out thousands who have been taught the things that will make them better citizens, better fitted to take up the task where we leave off to assume the burdens and privileges of the rich legacy which is ours."

J. W. Pillsbury, aspirant for Republican gubernatorial honors, spoke on the needs of the state. He strongly advocated improvement in transportation facilities, both through better railroad facilities and better service and also through improved highways. These things, he said, coupled with the agricultural development of which New Hampshire is capable, would mean a vast improvement throughout the state.

Gordon Woodbury of Bedford, frequently mentioned in connection with the Democratic nomination for congress in the first district, dealt with preparedness in this talk. He referred to the fact that though the New Hampshire troops had been late in starting for the border, they went prepared and he dealt also with the need of preparedness in spirit as well as in material things.

Dr. Thomas Chalmers, candidate for the Republican nomination for congress in the first district, was a late arrival at the meeting coming to Canobie from a trip to the North Country. He spoke briefly and effectively on the desirability of such work as the board planned to increase activities in New Hampshire.

Olin H. Chase of Newport made a clever and witty talk, and was followed by Fernando W. Hartford of Portsmouth, who spoke forcefully of the value of co-operation in forwarding the interests of the state. Use of the Salem exhibition grounds as a state-wide enterprise, he declared, would be helpful to all New Hampshire. Likewise it behooved all the state to take interest in the Portsmouth navy yard. He referred, too, to the wisdom of residents of New Hampshire who did their trading in Boston instead of at home. Manchester's stores, for example, he pointed out, would return greater value for customer's money than would stores of Boston.

W. J. Ahern, the veteran Democratic leader in the legislature, spoke briefly, and W. D. Pulver, president of the Salem board of trade, extended the good wishes of his town and organization and urged the guests to come again to Canobie.

Seated at the head table were Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Pulver, Adelle E. Towne and Omar A. Towne of Franklin, H. W. Pillsbury of Londonderry, Gordon Woodbury of Bedford, John C. Hutchins of North Stratford, Olin H. Chase of Newport and F. W. Hartford of Portsmouth.

Others present were D. N. Davis of Franklin, C. P. Little, E. M. Savage, A. R. Ayers, Samuel F. Patterson and John P. Kelley of Concord, W. H. Burton of Salem Depot, George I. Husell of Manchester, A. Sherman Fowler of Franklin, Ernest A. Hurdall, W. L. Thomas, J. Carroll Aaron, Frank Miller and T. M. Madigan, Jr., of Manchester, J. L. Schurman of Portsmouth, A. O. PEOPLES' OPINION

Editor:
I am informed through your paper of the fine condition of Nubble Island since the board of public works did things there. Everybody will admit that the repairs were needed, but is Market street any more in need of the attention of the street department than Daniel street or other streets of the city?

This is a queer situation, Mr. Editor, when the people of York, Me., can come over to Portsmouth and demand that the public works department put a certain section of Market street in good condition, while the tax payers of the city cannot get the public works to lay out a nickel on Middle, Daniel and other highways.

Anyone that knows a thing about city affairs, knows just why Middle and Daniel streets are made to look ridiculous. However, this will come to an end when the next municipal election takes place. And while we are waiting for the election let us be a little patient and grateful because it cannot go on forever.

We might in the meantime get some of those live men at York to take up their residence in Portsmouth, where they might continue their good work and influence for the betterment of this city.

WITH BULLET IN HIS BODY

Newmarket Boy Taken to Exeter Cottage Hospital in Serious Condition.

Edward Smith, the 13 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Smith of Newmarket was taken to the Exeter Cottage hospital Tuesday afternoon with a bullet wound in his body.

Surgeons probed the wound for the bullet without locating it. It entered near the naval and is supposed to be lodged somewhere in the boy's back. The circumstances of the shooting are obscure, but it is supposed that it was accidental and occurred while the boy was at play with other boys. The young fellow entered his home saying "I am shot" and called for a doctor and was speedily hurried to the hospital.

I WONDER

Who did the band stand on Tuesday evening?

If the navy department will ever give Portsmouth that submarine base talked of some time ago?

Who will be the swimming instructor at the playgrounds and if there will be such a rush for the position as there was every year the former public bath house was opened?

If the once famous game of cricket that had many admirers and players in this city will ever come back?

Just when the contract for the Middle street paving will be awarded?

Why the "run slow" signs are not in place on Daniel street?

If the city will do anything to entertain the many visiting firemen who are coming here in September?

If the Crescent club at Rye will send any of those snap shots taken at Salisbury beach to the chief of the club with the same name in Portsmouth?

Why the Boston and Maine does not place a few individual drinking cups in the local depot?

If Middle street doesn't need more candle power in the street lights, as well as paving?

Why that swimming instructor at Spinnaker Creek, Blot, doesn't invite some of his Portsmouth friends up to witness some of his fancy work in the water?

What the Slack A. C. in camp at Wallis Sands did with their hair crop and if the name "Baldhead Camp" got its name as the result of the barber's activity with the clippers?

If the Democrats will ring in that Ward Three man as a majority candidate?

Who put the quetens on the fire alarm system?

If all the bids in the political arena for senator from the 25th district are still latent regardless of kicks and inclement weather?

CURRENT OPINION

Army of Trained Workers
Is Nation's Greatest Need.

If commercial supremacy is to be attained and maintained by the United States she must pay the price which her democracy demands in the education and training of her people—her workmen, her capitalists, her business administrators. Commercial and industrial opportunity in an autocracy may limit its application to foreign trade. The open door policy as applied to other nations may mark the boundary of its liberality, but in a democracy opportunity must mean equal opportunity as well.

There must be equal opportunity to make a living as well as to make a fortune; equal opportunity for every man or woman or child to climb the ladder of success.

Without discussion let us assume that the state should be responsible for the broad general training that is applicable to our industries as a whole and that the corporations should furnish the education and training which is special to them.

When these two educational factors have decided upon their particular functions and have started their educational activities then will the march toward industrial preparedness truly have begun.—By Professor Lee Galloway, New York University.

DRIVERS QUIT JOBS IN FIRE DEPARTMENT

Want Raise in Pay at Biddeford; Blame Mayor for Trouble.

The permanent drivers in the Biddeford fire department quit their jobs on Tuesday and for a while the central fire station was without men to handle the apparatus in case of an alarm. Nobody but the chief engineer was on duty for a time.

The chief with some of the firemen put in some little time on Tuesday trying to get some men to substitute for the present.

A number were approached but they did not want to take the places for the reason that they considered the demands of the drivers were just.

Mayor A. L. Girard sent word to Chief Engineer Cantara Tuesday noon that if the drivers did not pick up waste as usual, they could get through.

The drivers had refused point blank to go out on the waste teams this morning until some action was taken on their petition for an increase of 25 cents a day in the pay of the men. The drivers were perfectly willing to stay on duty for fire purposes and did not want to put Chief Cantara in the position in which he is at present.

The blame for the drivers quitting the fire department is laid on Mayor L. A. Girard, whom the drivers say made the statement from the first that he would not stand for any increase in the pay of the drivers if he had to resign.

The drivers who quit are Walter Buchanan of the chemical truck, Chas. Troll, No. 1, hose carriage; Edgar J. Rice, steamer, and Walter C. Scott, hook and ladder truck. Delphis Ledoux, the spare driver, has been off duty on account of an injury to his shoulder.

A few months ago the drivers put in a petition for an increase of 60 cents a day and the petition along with other petitions was referred to the committee on finance. The committee refused to take any action on the petition and the firemen have made several efforts to have the city council act favorably on the same.

DAIRYMEN
WIN VICTORY

New England Railroads Are Denied Permission to Greatly Increase Rates.

(Special to The Herald) Washington July 26.—The Interstate Commerce Commission today decided in favor of the dairymen in the New England freight rate fight that has been on for several years. Railroads in New England are denied permission to greatly increase their rates as proposed. A slight increase, to figure fixed by the commission was, however, permitted. The railroad in some instances wanted a 50 per cent increase. The commission also held that the leased car system employed by the larger dairymen was illegal and must be stopped. Railroads that appealed for the increases were the Boston & Maine, Boston & Albany, N. Y. N. H. & H., and the Maine Central lines.

Men on the Mexican Border Will Receive 10 Per Cent Advance.

(Special to The Herald) Washington, July 26.—The senate this afternoon adopted an amendment to the army bill increasing the house appropriation of $1,050,000 to $11,175,000 to allow extra pay for regulars and guardsmen in Mexican service. The increased appropriation means ten per cent increase to all officers and a 20 per cent increase to men in the regular army and National Guard sent to the border or to Mexico. It does not apply, however, to guardsmen in concentration camps.

"A WIFE'S SACRIFICE"

Five reels. The theme of the play is: Should a wife forfeit her good name, expel herself from society, tarnish her honor and lose her husband to protect from reproach one she loves? Should she, to help a scapegoat brother, make of herself a shunned creature to live henceforth under a burden of shame. Almost all people at some time or other, have their loyalty put to such a test as is seen in this wonderful picture.

BRITISH FREIGHT STEAMER MAY BE A TOTAL LOSS

Eastport, Me., July 25.—The British freight steamer Tyne, which went there was nothing they could do to save her during a dense fog in the Bay. Her forepeak and mainmast were reported as having been broken up and expected to be a total loss after she struck, and the heavy swell caused her to begin to break up during the night. The dock was being washed by the Royal Mail Steam Packet company of away rapidly.

The Tyne was built at Glasgow in 1900, of 1,000,000 feet of timber, intended for use in the construction of trenches, 1300 and registers 2002 gross tonnage. Tugs were summoned from St. John and 220 feet long.

HIGHEST PEAK IN THE APENNINES CAPTURED

London, July 25.—Reports at noon show gains for the allied armies on four fronts.

British troops have captured the greater part of the village of Pozieres, says the British official statement. The Germans brought up re-enforcements of infantry and guns, but the counter-attacks everywhere, the statement adds, were repulsed by the British.

Further advance of Gen. Sakharoff's Russian forces is unobserved. The Russian commander reported his troops had penetrated enemy entanglements on the river Stave.

From the Caucasus theatre of war the Grand Duke Nicholas reported that his advancing Russians had reached a point 15 versts (about two miles) from Erzingan, the Turks retreating in disorder.

At Cynano, the highest peak in the northern Apennines, has been captured by Italian troops.

Cynano is 7100 feet in height and lies just south of the Austrian border. Germans facing Gale of Flame and Steel.

London, July 25.—The British thrust of today was a brilliant forward of an inch of flame, steel and shot along a five-mile front from Thiepval to Longueval. At only three points in this stretch was there contact of men-at-arms. The last named village, which is divided by the main highway from Albert to Bapaume, housed British and Germans. Ever since Sunday morning the two forces have grappled hand-to-hand in desperate combat.

The wide street which stretches out in the town's suburbs to join the Bapaume highway was No Man's Land. It was swept by a rain of machine gun bullets from both sides. Now and then the deluge stopped momentarily, as forces from one side or the other charged. Then it was bayonet to bayonet. At last reports it seemed that the Anzac-sturdy British colonials tested, in the blazing heat of Gallipoli—were slowly but surely wresting an advantage.

None the less desperate were the struggles for supremacy in the two forests at Delville and High woods. The forests themselves were gone. Of the leafy foliage nothing remained. Shot and shell had ground down the trees into great blackened poles or laid them low on the ground in inextinguishable confusion. Behind these barriers of logs the Germans and British fought fiercely.

There was no discontinuity in the artillery fire which Gen. Haig has now been pouring ceaselessly into the German lines since Friday. On the other hand the Germans pounded away with explosive shells, gas shells, shrapnel and machine gun fire.

UNITY WITH DIVERSITY

The Law of the Universe
Which Men Must Obey
Discussed by Unitarians.

Dedication Sunday at the Unitarian conference was stormy without, but cheery within. The hotel entertained its record number of guests over the preceding night. One of the most highly appreciated addresses of the entire conference proved to be the Sunday morning sermon delivered by Rev. Newton M. Hall of Springfield, Mass., who represented the Congregational denomination. A matter of regret has been that only a small number belonging to that denomination were able to be present at the dedication exercises.

Rev. William L. Lawrence conducted a communion service in the old stone meeting house, after which a large congregation assembled in the hall for the morning service of worship. Dr. Hall took for his text the words of the Apostle Paul written to the Corinthians, "Now there are diversities of gifts, but the same spirit." He described the history of the churches which sprang up under the teachings of Paul and Peter with the new enthusiasm and joy of freedom which sometimes ran to excess, the church of Corinth being a case in point. These words are just as sane and vital and true today as when Paul wrote them and they are just as important for us as for the Corinthians. The great principle which Paul draws so broadly from nature and applies so keenly to human nature, the great principle of unity in diversity, abiding through all the universe. It is the underlying divine principle of all existence, and half the trouble in the world with all the discord and fighting, all the absurd pretensions to place and rank, and all the senseless quarrels in church and state arise because men cannot and will not accept it.

With all the diversities, all the originality, there is absolute harmony of operation, diversities of gifts, but the same spirit. There is no jealousy among the stars. The whole vast universe works like a perfect machine, gloriously obedient to the perfect law behind it. Humanity must be obedient to this law or it will never reach the goal which was set for it.

Creator in the beginning. We cannot have too much originality. We are always making the fatal mistake in education, in statecraft, in industry or suppressing originality, or stifling diversity in the interests of uniformity. In education we have a system by which our children are treated like boards run through a planer in a saw mill, and they are expected to emerge smooth on both sides and exactly alike. Originality and imagination are often treated by teachers as serious defects to be suppressed promptly, like knots in the board which the planer must cut through even if there be shrieks of protest and a temporary disturbance of the machinery. In the church, a like uniformity has been insisted upon the authorities of each system have tried to make people conform, to crowd all the different types of people into one mould. The church has always split into camps or divisions, each group of which has insisted that it is the sole vehicle of divine grace and that all the people must conform. In all these things we must go back to Paul's great law of diversities of gifts, but the same spirit. We must recognize and respect the fundamental, God-giving differences in men. We are not all alike and there is no use in pretending that we are. We must learn to recognize originality as the supreme gift and must not exalt the process above the result.

The Ideal in Religion

The ideal in religion would be that every soul, made in God's own image, but made with a fresh imprint of divine originality, should, with the help of all the ages and the divine relations seek and find God for himself. It must be so. We repeat in the sunshine our phrases and our formulae, very smoothly and glibly, but when the darkness and storm come we are shaken out of our convictions. Then it is God, and find him for ourselves.

In church and state we must exalt the individual, we must recognize the law of diversity. We must seek out diligently, as men seek for the hidden vein of gold, that infinitely precious something which is different and original, which is the God-imparted divine spark by means of which a man makes his contribution to the great infinite sum of life and knowledge. But this is not all. Genius must be taught to pull in harness, and not alone. The individual, his distinctive personality trained and developed to its capacity, must feel himself related to every other individual, in the family, the school, the state, and when you carry this law up to its final term and say "in the world," there is the impulse for foreign missions and for universal peace.

The Failure of Protestantism
We look back upon the poor Corinthians with pity because they could not see the law. We always forget that we are today guilty of the same sin. Denominationalism, carried out to its bitter extreme in modern Protestantism, is the worst sin which the church has ever committed. We are beginning to realize this, because the European catastrophe has shaken us out of our complacency and pride. In the supreme hour we have miserably failed. Our doctrinal differences which we have nourished with such jealous care, have prevented us from employing the full strength of Christianity in the hour of crisis. Dr. Hall feels sorry for the missionary who has to explain to the benighted heathen the reason why millions of Christian brethren have been engaged in turning Christian Europe into a slaughter house.

No one really believes it is Christianity which has failed. The failure is the result of a divided and impotent Christianity, a church which has clung desperately to the last faded rag of its ecclesiasticism, a church which has persistently fanned into flame the ashes of dead controversies. Whatever we may think of this war, we must admit the spirit in which the Allies have forgotten past differences to work for a common cause.

In the days of ancient art, the honor or was equally with the humblest man and the master craftsman. All worked together in perfect harmony that the temple of God might be one perfect whole. Christianity is too mighty a feat to be monopolized by any one sect. Truth is too broad and splendid to be comprehended in any one creed. The true church is the collective, Godward-reaching mass of humanity. We can never contain truth in any receptacle nor surround it any boundaries. The measure of man's greatness is that he can never attain the ultimate truth because it is infinite.

His Open Door for Christian Service

That which really separates men and perpetuates denominational differences is the intellectual pride, the inertia of tradition. When a scientist finds that his theories do not match with fact, he modifies his theories. When a churchman finds that his dogma is challenged by fact, he builds a wall around his dogma and goes to sleep inside. The facts of life are greater than any speculation about his personality. The time is approaching for a new revelation of the power of Jesus and his church in the world. A divided church cannot meet the exigencies of the hour. God is about to open the door to the largest opportunity for Christian service which the world has ever known. A new civilization must be built up in Europe, a new society on broader lines of fellowship, and to build a new civilization with one standard of morality there must be a new church with one constructive purpose. A church with the parochial spirit of denominationalism will be totally unfit for the task. Responsibility is not a parochial word; it belongs to the vocabulary of an individual, triumphant church with a world-wide mission.

Practical Church Unity

What we want is not uniformity, but harmony of spirit; federation and unity, not absorption. The reunion of Christianity must come in the same way that this nation became one people. Heart must be joined to heart; creed to creed, church to church. Without violating the sanctity of any man's soul, respecting differences of belief, but all working together with a common purpose, for a common end, until the federation is complete; until the universe is one country of God, thrilling to its uttermost bounds with the love of God.

Dr. Hall closed with a few words about the union of the Unitarians and Congregationalists in the Star Island enterprise. He feels that it is an auspicious day which inaugurates a new era of friendship and co-operation between two historic denominations. This is not an attempt to harmonize theological opinions, nor to consolidate ecclesiastical systems. The two denominations are saying together that they can work together as one body for the uplifting of the Kingdom of God; that no divergence of speculative thought should open the smallest crevice of a division in the practical field between those who are one, not in respect to names or badges or creeds, but in spirit. "Our co-operative enterprise may seem small, but it is great in its possibilities. If it cannot be carried out in the spirit of fraternity, of mutual consideration and respect, I shall despair of any united effort on the part of Protestantism. We must not permit it to fail. As our little island here is an indivisible part of the great continent though the sea roll between, so our enterprise may be the outpost of a new contingent of promise and of power, although the sea of ancient doubt and suspicion roll between."

Rev. Samuel A. Elliot preached the Sunday evening sermon on some of the motives and impulses which led to the establishment here of this place of perpetual refreshment—those deep or reasons which, in the last analysis justify its foundation. He quoted from Psalms where he said, one may always find in expressive utterances in the terms of religion, all of the impulses of man. There Jesus found inspiration and they still contain the natural expression of our modern needs. They are the outcome of very personal emotions which are just the same in every age. They express universal experience and meet a permanent need. In the Seventy-Eighth Psalm it is written "that they might set their hope in God, but keep his commandments." This tells us how the past, present and future, memory, hope and permanent endeavor may be blessed by associating them with something more lasting than our brief lives. It is the fulfillment of His plans that our hopes for the future are most confidently set.

Our motive is that we should not forget. History is more than a list of dates and battles. It has larger and deeper interpretations. We should study history, not merely to learn where men's ambitions have been displayed, but how God has wrought His purposes. That which will consecrate memory in the thinking of the past as one long story of what God has done for mankind. Those who look back upon the past and see nothing but their own failures and successes, grow discouraged. If we look back into the past with the remembrance of the work of God, we can look forward more confidently to His larger purposes.

Why We Are What We Are

We are what we are because He is what He is. A full realization of what this means would change our whole conception of the purpose and government of this inscrutable universe. Man is never sent here to evolve the conditions under which he has to live, but there is always a background for the new life. The earth was a rich treasure house before man was made. Every sense and faculty of the body and mind finds exercise in something which was made here before man was made, and all the natural resources of the earth were made in expectation of man's coming and use. All this background of life gathers itself into an ordered purpose. That we live at all is a protection and extension of His eternal being. We should not, then, forget the works of God and we are here that we may set our hopes in God.

In all our earthly hopes there is a feeling of uncertainty; an apprehension, a possibility of disaster. We must needs meet the inevitable anxieties by setting our hopes in God. In the long run things work together for good. He who takes it for his essential life to work out what God works in him, will find his soul with a divine dynamic.

We need more of the sense of a Divine purpose and power here. The scientist discovers no lack of order in nature. Through the infinite powers of nature a vast order is working itself out. An almighty mind has been working this out from the beginning. Some people are only awakened from their lives of ease and comfort by calamity, or are led to see God's goodness by exceptional joy. Man's trust should be because of the constancy of His word. The knowledge of the truth may change but the truth is forever the same. We may use or abuse His gifts, but He remains true to the conditions under which they are offered to us. There are mysteries in God's providence but His known ways are such that we ought to be able to trust the unknown to Him.

One of the impulses which brings us here is to live in active and intelligent co-operation with God. Memory and hope are impulses which should make service not a burden but a delight. God does not show us salvation in spite of the day's work, but because of it. The laws of the spiritual life are bound up in the day's work.

The presence of God in the eternal world all desire for knowledge, the throes of delight in beauty, the capacity to overcome and rise above sorrow, show the living God dynamic in our souls. Whatever our work is, it becomes the Father's business and is enabled through associations. When the soul has come into this realization it has entered into the secrets of power, into the privileges of the immeasurable mind.

DOCTOR HARRIS DIES OF WOUNDS

Dr. Atwood, Confessed Slayer,
Will Be Charged With Murder.

Boston, July 25—Dr. Wilfred B. Harris who was shot last Tuesday by Dr. Eldredge Dr. Atwood, died late today. His wife was with him when he died.

The police announced that the charge against Dr. Atwood would be changed from assault to first degree murder.

Dr. Harris failed to rally from the state of coma into which he lapsed last night. He made no statement during the case, according to police. An autopsy will be performed tomorrow by Medical Examiner Leary. An extra guard has been placed over Dr. Atwood as a result of his display of extreme nervousness, the first since his arrest. He was not told of Dr. Harris' death tonight. The police said that he would formally be charged with first degree murder on Wednesday.

Intimations have been made by Atwood's senior counsel George F. Bean that when the young osteopath is brought to trial his defense will be insanity. To support this theory, the claim is advanced that an uncle committed suicide ten years ago after escaping from a hospital for the insane. His grandfather, also, it has been claimed, had shown symptoms of an unsound mind.

A HEAVY RAINFALL

The information is obtained from the Sherbourne Springs pumping station that the average rainfall for the past five years has been 31 inches. This year however, has proved an exception as from January 1 to July 1, 1916, twenty-eight inches of rain fell.

The Herald is much appreciated by our summer visitors.

GOV. SPAULDING WILL BE PRESENT

Hampton Beach Board of Trade Also Hopes to Entertain Gov. McCall.

At the weekly meeting of the Hampton Beach Board of Trade it was unanimously voted to extend an invitation to Governor McCall of Massachusetts to attend the festival incident to Governor's Day on Thursday, Sept. 7, which is during Carnival Week for which elaborate plans are being formulated.

Governor Spaulding has already accepted an invitation to be present with Secretary of State Bean and the members of the governor's staff and council, and with so many Massachusetts visitors at the hotels and cottages it was considered courteous to extend a similar invitation to Governor McCall.

Other prominent officials throughout New England will be present and a much larger patronage than last season is certain to be accorded the event.

HOBOS ARE SCARCE

Not Many Jumping Freight and Railroad Men Are Relieved.

Railroad men on the Boston and Maine say that hobos were never so scarce as at present, especially on freight trains where they formerly rode in large numbers. Either the Knights of the road have gone to work or the activity of the railroad police in locking up all trespassers has got them frightened. The police note a decrease in visits here of the tramp fraternity. It may be possible that they are enjoying a share of the country's prosperity. The railroad men and police hope their absence will continue.

K, Q & C NOTES

The regular meeting will be held next Tuesday evening and the first degree will be conferred.

The ladies committee on the lawn party will meet at the home on Friday evening. The lawn party will be held on Thursday evening, August 31st and the several committees are working hard to make the affair a success.

WRECKERS CALLED OUT.

Freight Car Pushed Over
Trestle at Rochester.

A carload of kindling wood being moved by a shifting engine in the Boston and Maine yard at Rochester on Tuesday afternoon was pushed off the end of a coal trestle and dropped a distance of 25 feet to the ground badly smashing the car and scattering the contents. The Portsmouth wrecking crew was ordered out and worked with the big steam derrick until after midnight to clear up the wreck.

Portsmouth never presented a more attractive appearance outside of its public streets than it does today.
